

THE HOUSING MARKET - A BRAVE NEW WORLD

WEDNESDAY 24th JUNE 2009

Following seismic changes in the housing market over the past year, Bell & Scott had brought together three of the leading advisors in the industry to look at the major changes which have already taken place, and how to survive in the new market.

The event will take place at Bell & Scott's Edinburgh office on Wednesday 24th June. Delegates are invited to come along to 16 Hill Street, Edinburgh at 5.30pm for a 6pm start. We will hold three 15 minute presentations on the following topics:

Deal structures, John Gallacher, Head of Housebuilding and Regeneration, Bell & Scott

John will look at deal structures in the current market and how the landscape has changed.

The new Planning System in Scotland and the credit crunch, Peter Allan, Director, PPCA

Peter will look at the opportunities presented while discussing the severe difficulties at present and how to overcome them.

Where are land prices going?, John Brown, Director, DTZ

John will discuss the likely changes we will see over the next three years. Is an Autumn fall likely?
